

The Edinburgh Jewish Cultural Centre LIVE

presents

Thursday 11th March 2021 at 7.30 pm

Tzipporah Johnston

Edinburgh-based embroiderer and visual artist

Tzipporah will be speaking about her textile art and three of her current projects: The Museum of Monotropism, an installation about autistic experience; Neuk Collective, a Creative Scotland-funded collective of neurodivergent artists; and The Fruit of Her Hands, a participatory textile art project using fabric scraps from Jewish women's scrub- and mask-making to create a Torah mantle and binder, in honour of the volunteers who have sewn PPE during the pandemic. Please feel free to bring your own needlework to work on!

Tzipporah Johnson is a textile and mixed media artist based in Edinburgh, working primarily in hand embroidery. Her current projects include Neuk Collective, a new collective of neurodivergent artists from across Scotland, and The Fruit of Her Hands, a participatory textile art project to make a Torah mantle in honour of scrub- and mask-making volunteers.

Booking instructions

This will be an event on Zoom. Join the event from 7.15pm for a 7.30pm start.

To book a place at this event please use this link: www.tinyurl.com/EJCC110321 to complete your registration. You will shortly receive an e-mail with the full login details including password. We will also send a reminder on the day to remind you of the meeting ID and password.

If you have any problems using this link, please e-mail edinburghjcc@gmail.com and we will get back to you as soon as we can.